ICSPAH Official Website Continuously Updated

Thanks to Dr. Meiyuan Chen for her extraordinary work on constantly maintaining and updating the ICSPAH official website (scan the QR code below to access). Now the website presents the latest information about the ICSPAH. The updated website features seven sections in two languages. Viewers can find (1) About Us, (2) Journal, (3) Events, (4) News, (5) Activities, (6) Membership, and (7) Contact Us by visiting <https://icspah.me>.

We uploaded the Bylaws of ICSPAH under the About Us section, in addition to the Executive Council (EC) member profiles. The newly added Journal section represents the interface to the Society sponsored International Journal of Physical Activity and Health. Viewers can find information such as the introduction of the Journal, its aims and scopes, and submission guidelines. Under the Events section, we highlighted the information about the ICSPAH Annual Conference, where you can find the most recent Call for Abstracts and Submission Template. One of the most popular events, the ICSPAH Invited Presentations have been held monthly over the past years. The schedule and links to Zoom meetings can be found in the News section. The Activities section also includes the presentation schedule as well as minutes for the EC meetings.

The Membership section introduces three types of members and benefits of being a member. More importantly, we added a PayPal link so you can conveniently pay your membership fees online. At the bottom of this section, lists of members and member ID numbers can be found.

More functions will be added depending on needs. Information and materials will be constantly updated on the site. Please add the website to your Favorites. If you have any questions or suggestions, please do not hesitate to Contact Us at icspah@hotmail.com.

Letter of Appreciation

My name is Baofu Wang, I just finished my PHD study under Dr. Senlin Chen at Louisiana State University with major in kinesiology and minor in experimental statistics. I have been constantly making progress and receiving rigorous trainings on how to become a qualified researcher and have published six peer reviewed papers in journals such as JTPE, QUEST, and JOPEHRD in past four years. I'd like to use this opportunity to express my heartfelt appreciation to Dr. Chen for his patient guidance and insightful critiques. I could not accomplish anything without his unselfish support. After graduation, I moved to become a C.T.Vivian scholar at Western Illinois University. I am currently teaching three courses for PETE students. My professional endeavor is to keep my research productivity, meticulously prepare for each class, and hopefully to be promoted to assistant professor next year.

(Note: Dr. Baofu Wang is a lifetime member of the ICSPAH)
